

New Amendmet Proposed to Constitution

Giving Congress Power to Authorize the Vice President to Assume Executive Authority in Case of Presidential Disability

By HERBERT W. WALKER
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, Feb. 18.—A constitutional amendment, giving Congress and the Supreme Court joint power to authorize the vice president, or the ranking cabinet officer, to assume the duty of the president during the disability of the chief executive, has been prepared by Representative Fess of Ohio for introduction in the House today.

Fess would have the constitution amended so that congress might issue a concurrent resolution declaring that the president is unable to serve after a finding of the facts by the supreme court, in case congress was not in session when the president became disabled. The Fess amendment then gives the vice president power to call it into a special session for the purpose of determining whether the chief executive is able to function.

Details of the plan have not been completed, but Fess says he believes several features of his proposal must be left to legislation to enforce the constitutional amendment which then would initiate the proceedings to determine whether the president is unable to serve. If it is left to later legislation, then Fess believes this should be done by a resolution asking the supreme court to investigate.

Fess who is an authority on United States history, said he planned the document after careful scrutiny of the constitution, and debate during the constitutional convention.

This was brought out here on telephone connections and installment charges of the Northwestern Telephone Co. before the state railway and warehouse commission. G. H. Pratt of Omaha, vice president of the company, submitted exhibits containing proposed new rates. Under the plan, public service connection in Minneapolis and Duluth will cost $5. $4 in St. Cloud and eight other towns in that class $3 in the smaller towns, $2 and $2.50 in the smaller communities.

At present there is a flat rate of $3.50 for this service.

Conference Report on Rail- road Bill

Ready to Report to the House—
Makes Present Rates Effective
For Six Months After March 1st

(By United Press)

Washington, Feb. 18.—No reduction in rates can be made for six months after the railroads of the country are returned to private ownership, according to the terms of a combined Senate and House bill by the conference. The conference report on the two measures, which is to be submitted to the House today, provides that the guaranteed standard rental allowed railroads under federal control shall be continued for six months after the return of the railroads March 1, and during this period the rates now in effect will apply. Both inter and intra-state rates are included. The provision is being included to prevent the state commissions from lowering the rates within their jurisdiction and cause additional losses for the government because of the guarantee.

Democrats opposing this and other guarantee sections of the bill, claim that the rates entered remain at the present level, but will be increased in future because of these provisions. Efforts will be made by Representatives Sims and Berkeley, the democrat conferees, to defeat the conference report for this reason. Action on the conference report will not be started in the House until Saturday. Efforts will be made to reach an agreement on that day, allowing the senate next week to act in order that the measure may be sent to the President before March 1.

A summary of the conference report is as follows:

"A new rule of rate making is established by the provision that the rate commerce commission must adjust rates so the roads will be guaranteed a rate of 5 1/2 per cent of aggregate property value. Any profit above 5 per cent is to be divided between the carriers and the government for a contingent fund to aid weaker roads.

Labor disputes are to be settled through an adjusting board with an equal number of representatives on both sides with the right to appeal to a new permanent tribunal created by the bill. The railroads board of appeal, upon which the public carrier and labor are represented. All arbitration is voluntary, and no anti-strike provisions are included. A revolving fund of $300,000,000 is created for loans to roads.

No indebtedness during the federal control is to be funded over a period not to exceed fifteen years. The state railroad commission has no power over any rates until six months after control ends. All war power of the president with regard to railroads are repealed.

The Romans valued amber highly, not alone for its beauty, but also for the medicinal qualities which they believe it to contain. In their opinion, an amulet of amber, worn around the neck, was an infallible cure for ague or chills. Ground up with honey and rose-oil, amber was a specific for deafness, and ground with honey, a remedy for defective sight. Amber was once used for the purpose of personal adornment. Homer mentions "the gold necklace hung with bits of amber" which was offered by the Phoenician trader to the queen of Syria.

Allies Reply to Wilson Given to Ambassador Davis

At the Intervention of Lord Grey and Lord Cecil it Was Modified to be More Conciliatory

BY ED. L. KEEN,
(United Press Correspondent.)
London, Feb. 18.—The allies' reply to President Wilson's note on the Adriatic situation, was handed to Ambassador Davis last night, the Morning Post said today.

It was understood the complete text was modified considerably from the first draft prepared. The London correspondent of the Lemaitre in Paris said he heard the first draft was completed Saturday, but was held up at the last minute for reconsideration, after which it was decided to word it in a more conciliatory tone.

The eleventh hour delay in the note was due to intervention by Lord Grey and Lord Cecil, who consider the question very grave.

The situation today was believed to contain grave possibilities. It was learned from authoritative sources that Premier Nitti told Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand that he cannot return to Rome this time without some definite decision as to the disposition of the dispute of the Adriatic territory. Nitti, according to this information, said he was tired of running to and fro between London and Paris and that a "show down" was necessary if he was to keep control of the Italian government.

The position of France and Great Britain was described as that of the upper and nether millstone.

It was inevitable that they must offend either Italy, United States or Jugo-Slavia. The two leading European powers, officials said, were confronted with a delicate proposition.

Allies Will Yield to Wilson
Washington, Feb. 18.—The allies will yield to President Wilson's stand on Fiume and will at least postpone execution of their plan for settlement of the Adriatic program, it was predicted at the state department today.

The answer of the allies was expected shortly. It is believed to be of most conciliatory terms. The allies answer, it is expected by officials, will declare that continued participation of the United States in the Adriatic settlement and other European affairs is most desirable.

There were conflicting reports today as to the character of Wilson's original note, as the White House has stated, through Secretary Tumulty, that the note was only ten lines, and there was not a threat to withdraw from European affairs. Officials of the state department said the note contained an intimation that Wilson might have to consider keeping America out of the league, unless the allies abandon the proposed plan of settlement.

Reply Being Received
Washington, Feb. 18.—The allies reply to President Wilson's protest against their proposal for settlement of the Adriatic dispute was being received by the state department today.

The allies reply will not be made public by the state department, it was stated authoritatively. Wilson may give out his protest and the reply later. After the communication is decoded at the state department, it will be sent to the White House.

Ask Wilson for Suggestions
Washington, Feb. 18.—The allies have asked President Wilson to make further suggestions for the settlement of the Adriatic question, according to available information today as to the contents of the reply to Wilson's protest against the proposed settlement.

The reply was decoded at the state department today, but it was announced it would not be made public and that Wilson's original protest would also be withheld. At the White House it was said there was no immediate intention of making public either of the documents.

Wilson's intimation that the treaty might be withdrawn from the senate if the allies persist in their course was met, it was reported, with the belief that the allies do not want the United States to stand aloof or to recall American ships and men in the Adriatic patrol.

The president, it was believed, will answer the allied note by outlining a course of action which would be acceptable to him.

Big Drop in Food Prices Predicted

If Farm Production This Year is up to the average For Ten Years

RALPH COUCH
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, Feb. 18.—A big drop in food prices will come this summer, government experts predicted today if farm production is equal to or greater than the production average for the ten year period, just closed.

A one hundred per cent production is due according to law of average records, the agricultural department showed.

A hundred per cent production is equal to the ten year average. There are many factors in the situation which tends to big crops this summer and lower prices. According to the agricultural department some of these factors are:

Price of farm production now is unusually high, a situation which the farmer naturally will wish to take advantage of by planting increased acreage.

Production still is near the peak brought about by war stimulation and has not yet been relaxed.

(By United Press)

Minneapolis, Feb. 18.—Ralph LaCount on trial in Hennepin county district court charged with the murder of his wife last September, was led to the witness stand today nervous, sobbing and pale.

"Nothing but the truth, so help me God," he cried as he crossed the court room, supported by court attaches. He strove to shatter the wall of circumstantial evidence woven about him by the state. His answers, both direct and cross examination were garbled, inaccurate and oft-times repeated, again and again in a dull lifeless voice. And even when asked by the prosecuting attorney to tell of his first meeting with Madelyn Covell, who later became his wife, did he raise any protest. Thos. Hutchinson, his attorney, however protested, and was rebuked by Judge Steele.

LaCount said he had met Miss Covell in March, 1918, on Nicollet Ave. Then when they met another couple went to LaCount's room he admitted. He admitted he had had other women with him in his room at various times.

Hopes of Ratifying Treaty is Waning

Senate Discussed the Treaty, but was More Interested in President's Threat to Withdraw It

L. C. MARTIN,
(Written for the United Press)

Washington, Feb. 18.—The senate continued today to discuss the peace treaty, but with hopes of ratification waning. Much more interest was displayed by the report intimated by President Wilson to the allies that he might have to consider withdrawal of the treaty from the senate if the proposed Adriatic settlement is enforced. In the absence of official information most senators would not venture to comment on the president's note.

There was some hint if it resulted in the withdrawal, to defer a vote on reservations or take any definite action with respect to the treaty until the president's intention is made clear.

Senator Lodge, chairman of the foreign relations committee, predicted that France and Great Britain would yield to President Wilson, rather than have him withdraw the peace treaty, and the tri-party agreement already developed between the United States and France and Britain.

If Wilson withdraws the treaty, senators said it would be his duty to suggest some other way of formal end of the war with Germany either through a new treaty or a resolution declaring the war over. This might be by negotiations or treaty of amity. The democrats have not given up hope of getting enough votes to force the adoption of one or the other of their compromise proposals on Article X.

Third Political Party Will Contest For President

Will be Formed of Labor Party and Other Liberal Elements—LaFollette Talked of for President

St. Louis, Feb. 18.—A third political party will contest for president in the coming campaign as a result of a national convention of liberals to be held in Chicago July 4, the "committee of forty-eight" announced today.

The official call for the nominating convention will be issued shortly, according to committee officials here. A coalition of the labor party recently organized in Chicago, the National Peoples League, the committee of forty-eight and other liberals was perfected at the executive session held in Chicago, according to Sheridan Carlisle of Missouri, who attended the session.

Senator Robert LaFollette, of Madison, Wis., was prominently mentioned as a presidential prospect, according to Carlisle.

He declared the socialist party is not united with the liberals.

Lowden in South Dakota

Sioux Falls, S. D., Feb. 18.—Governor Lowden arrived in Sioux Falls today to address a mass meeting to-night, opening his campaign in South Dakota for presidential nomination.

* Secretary of Interior *

John F. Shafroth
Washington hears that President Wilson is seriously considering the appointment of former Senator John F. Shafroth of Colorado to succeed Franklin K. Lane as secretary of the interior. He served in the House of Representatives, then as governor of his state, and was elected to the Senate but was beaten for re-election in 1918 by Lawrence C. Phipps by a little more than 3,000 votes. His friends say that his defeat was due more to the president's letter appealing to the country to return a Democratic congress than by any lack of personal following in Colorado.

Dispatch want ads work wonders. This winter Theodore B. Brusegaard lost a cuff link, bearing a lion's head, and highly prized as it was a gift from his mother. OBJECTIONABLE

By JACK LAWTON.

Parkville was in a state of agitation. Summer after summer, the sleepy, pretty village had gone on its peaceful way. Parkville maidens, clad in crisp muslin frocks, sat upon well-ordered verandas or porches, awaiting the companionship of Parkville's single, young men—still the proper, worthy maidens waited—with the difference, the young men failed to arrive as usual, to pay their bantering, attentive calls.

And the trouble of all this laxity had arrived and registered at Parkville's one hotel. That a young and unaccompanied woman should brave the publicity of the corner hotel, had before been unheard of. And that she should in addition waive all conventionalities aside and freely talk and laugh with men whom she had met only in their various places of business was—in Parkville—no less than scandalous. And the stranger's offense, which overshadowed all others, in the eyes of the village maidens, was the glowing beauty of the girl and the new and daring charm of her. William Thayer, the admired and important young lawyer, had boldly escorted Miss Ginny Tyler—the newcomer—down the broad walk of Main street in plain view of almost the entire population of Parkville, when she had called at his office upon some foolish pretext. At least, William's mother assured the girls that this "Ginny" had made a trivial excuse to visit the office, she was sure, for William refused to explain the reason. Thereafter William, in defiance of anger or ridicule, was often seen at Miss Tyler's side, while a former supposed sweetheart made bitter remarks concerning his new allegiance. Doctor Jim, son of old Doctor James, was the stranger's next victim, and though Doctor Jim's repeated presence upon the obnoxious hotel veranda was followed by a prompt falling off of invitations elsewhere, Doctor Jim continued—in the hotel keeper's words—"to beat Bill Thayer to it."

Paul Thornton was an estimable man, and young Parkville maidens evidenced a new and admirable interest in the church of their fathers. "The right man at last," said old Everett Fairfax, the wealthiest man of the town, to which Ruth, his daughter, silently and smilingly agreed.

Paul Thornton was a frequently invited visitor at the pretentious Fairfax home, and it was from these portals that Ruth saw the thing which threatened at its beginning the young preacher's success. She had fairly glimpsed with animosity the strange girl's approach, when the Reverend Paul, leaving the parlor door, could be seen hurrying eagerly after. Ruth caught her breath in shocked surprise as that admired young man not only took quick possession of Miss Ginny Tyler's hand, but drew it protectively through his own arm, and the two went strolling up the hill toward what was known as "The Lovers' Walk."

Events following this episode caused Parkville itself to hold its breath in shocked surprise. For the shepherd of this worthy flock might be seen at almost any hour of the day devotedly and openly in the siren's company, while Billie Thayer and Doctor Jim waited sulking upon the deserted hotel veranda. And as Paul Thornton persisted in his rashness, old Fairfax decided upon Ruth's promptings to take up the matter with the great Doctor West, of the city. Doctor West's fame as one of the best preachers of the time was broadcast; astonishingly and unexpectedly, the noted man sent reply that he would prefer visiting Parkville and discussing the case in person. The Rev. Paul had been accepted in the Parkville church doctor West's own request.

A committee was waiting to receive him when he arrived at the Fairfax home in an automobile, and with regretful and serious face Parkville's wealthiest citizen arose to voice the complaint of his people. "We can't keep a man whose actions are questionable," he finished, "and Paul Thornton is openly devoting himself to a questionable character. A girl who won't tell where she came from or what she's here for. Who lives by herself in a hotel, and dresses like a actress. Who don't mix in with our girls but carries on with the men." Doctor West considered. "I would like," he said at last, "to have you send for Paul Thornton and the young woman of whom you speak, and bring them before me."

It was Ruth who flew to the telephone and Ruth who admitted the guilty two when they answered the summons. But in the girl's lovely face there was no embarrassment of guilt, while Paul Thornton rushed forward joyfully to shake his superior's hand. But the breathless, shocking moment came, when Ginny Tyler, all unabashed, ran straight into the great man's arms. Over her lovely head he smiled at them.

"My daughter!" he announced gravely, "who came under her mother's maiden name to stay among you, and try to find welcome. It was her wish to visit you, and find friendship for herself before coming to stay here permanently as your pastor's wife. Paul Thornton and my daughter Virginia have been for some time, and with my complete sanction— betrothed."

Varied Uses of Coconuts.

Coconuts have long been considered one of the most valuable products of the tropics. The palm grows wild and is utilized in many ways by the natives. The meat of the nut, eaten raw or cooked, forms an important article of food and the liquid contained in the center of the nut a most refreshing drink; the sap from the unopened flower buds is also used as a drink and is highly intoxicating if allowed to ferment for some time; the husk of the nut is used for fuel and its fibers to make rope, matting and brushes; the shell of the nut is used for fuel, for drinking cups and various household utensils; the leaves and the wood of the palm are utilized for mats, thatching and timber for huts.

First Needles Primitive.

The earliest needles known in history did not have eyes, but were like awls and were used for making holes in skins, through which long roots or plants or leather thongs were passed and then tied. Later a hole was bored through one end of the stone or bronze needle, through which the root or leather was passed, and thus dragged through the hides as punched. Such needles are found in the remains of the stone age. Bone needles with eyes are found in the reindeer caves of France and lake dwellings of central Europe.

Water Raised by Endless Belt.

The oddest of recent English productions is the spiral-spring belt pump, claimed to raise 1,000 gallons of water per hour from a depth of 300 feet, even when operated by hand. The endless belt is mounted on a grooved pulley having vertical position by a loose grooved weight in the bottom loop. The water held in the turns of the spiral is discharged as the belt goes over the top in its regular rotation.

Frog Slept Seven Years.

After lying dormant for seven years in the solid concrete of a sewer man-hole in Lodi, Cal., a frog took an hour's sunbath and then hopped away, according to the foreman of a gang of laborers repairing the streets there. The duration of the frog's long sleep is determined by the fact that the man-hole was constructed seven years ago and had not been disturbed until torn out during the recent reconstruction work.

FORD

The Universal Car

Don't Depend On Spring Deliveries!

Spring deliveries of Ford cars have never been certain, and they should not be depended upon. Demand has always been greater for Ford cars than the supply or production. So, if you would be sure of having a Ford car, buy it now while deliveries are possible. Don't wait—even next month is an uncertainty.

Only a limited, specified number of cars has been allotted to this territory. That allotment cannot be increased, because the demand all over the country is greater than the supply or production. Get your order in now, and you will be one of those who is sure of a Ford car out of our allotment.

It's first come—first served. All orders are filled in rotation. So if you would be forehanded, if you would be certain of having a Ford car when you want it—then you will buy a Ford car now. A signed order with us is your protection. It is the result of looking ahead.

If you buy a Ford car now, don't think you have to "store" it. The Ford is a car made to serve its owner for business or pleasure throughout the entire year. Ford owners have long since come to recognize the fact. It is no longer popular to "lay-up" your car for the winter. Buy a Ford car now, and use it now.

Leaves Sweeter Than Sugar.

The United States department of agriculture has received from the consul at Asuncion, Paraguay, several ounces of dried leaves and a small quantity of seed of a wild plant that is about 180 times as sweet as sugar. It is called can fee by the natives, and its botanical name is stevia rebaudiana. Another strange plant is the agayum (synsopalum dulciferum) of southern Nigeria, the fruits of which are only slightly sweet, but have the peculiar property of making the spiciest substances, such as limes, lemons, orange fruits or vinegar, eaten within 12 hours or so afterward seem intensely sweet. Stevia rebaudiana is a native of Paraguay.

Foolish Visionaries.

Many there are who have fine visions and dream great dreams and do nothing else. When in the mood they are filled with splendid conceptions and ideals, in which they revel with passionate enthusiasm; but when they turn from their vision to the hard task their enthusiasm evaporates. These are the idealists who often plan great things for others and for themselves, but whose lives are barren of results and filled with disappointments. They are rightly labeled "visionaries." Men who see much to do but do nothing. Shakespeare has created the type of such grand failure in Hamlet, Prince of Denmark, the type of the man who has visions but lacks obedience to the vision and resolution to carry it out.

FORD

The Universal Car

Don't Depend On Spring Deliveries!

Spring deliveries of Ford cars have never been certain, and they should not be depended upon. Demand has always been greater for Ford cars than the supply or production. So, if you would be sure of having a Ford car, buy it now while deliveries are possible. Don't wait—even next month is an uncertainty.

Only a limited, specified number of cars has been allotted to this territory. That allotment cannot be increased, because the demand all over the country is greater than the supply or production. Get your order in now, and you will be one of those who is sure of a Ford car out of our allotment.

It's first come—first served. All orders are filled in rotation. So if you would be forehanded, if you would be certain of having a Ford car when you want it—then you will buy a Ford car now. A signed order with us is your protection. It is the result of looking ahead.

If you buy a Ford car now, don't think you have to "store" it. The Ford is a car made to serve its owner for business or pleasure throughout the entire year. Ford owners have long since come to recognize the fact. It is no longer popular to "lay-up" your car for the winter. Buy a Ford car now, and use it now.

Leaves Sweeter Than Sugar.

The United States department of agriculture has received from the consul at Asuncion, Paraguay, several crates of dried leaves, a small quantity of seed of a wild plant that is about 150 times as sweet as sugar. It is called can lee by the natives, and its botanical name is stevia rebaudiana. Another strange plant is the aglayun (synonyming dylicferum) of southern Nigeria, the fruit of which are only slightly sweet, but have the peculiar property of making the spicy substances, such as limes, lemons, orange fruits or vinegar, eaten within 12 hours or so afterward green intensely sweet. The natives use it as a substitute for sugar.

Faithful Visionaries.

Many there are who have fine visions and dream great dreams and do nothing else. When in the mood they are filled with splendid conceptions and ideals, in which they revel with passionate enthusiasm; but when they rise from their vision to the hard task of their enthusiasm, they are disappointed. These are the idealists who often plan great things for others and for themselves, but whose lives are barren of results and filled with disappointments. They are rightly labeled "visionaries." Men who see much to do but do nothing. Shakespeare has created the type of such grand failure in Hamlet, Prince of Denmark, the type of the man who has visions but lacks obedience to the vision and resolution to carry it out.

Is Your Blood Starving For Want of Iron?

Modern Methods of Cooking and Living Have Made an Alarming Increase in Iron Deficiency in Blood of American Men and Women

Why Nuxated Iron so Quickly Helps Build Up Weak, Nervous, Run-Down Folks—Over 3,000,000 People Annually Taking It to Increase Their Strength, Power, Energy and Endurance.

"Is your blood starving for want of iron? If you were to go without eating until you became weak, thin and emaciated, you could not do a more serious harm to yourself than when you let your blood literally starve for want of iron—iron that gives it strength and power to change food into living tissue," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital.

"Modern methods of cooking and the rapid pace at which people of this country live has made such an alarming increase in iron deficiency in the blood of American men and women that I have often marveled at the large number of people who suspect the cause of their weak, nervous, run-down state. Lack of sufficient iron in the blood has ruined many a man's nerves and utterly robbed him of that virile force and stamina which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life."

"I strongly advise those who feel the need of a strength and blood-builder to get a physician's prescription for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—or if you don't want to go to this trouble, then purchase only Nuxated Iron in its original packaging and see that this particular name (Nuxated Iron) appears on the package."

In commenting upon the value of Nuxated Iron as a means for creating red blood, strength and endurance, Dr. George H. Baker, formerly physician and surgeon, Mont-mouth Memorial Hospital, New Jersey, says: "What women need to put roses in their cheeks and the springtime of life into the step is not cosmetics or stimulating drugs, but plenty of rich pure red blood. Iron is one of the greatest of all strength and blood-builders and unless this iron is obtained from our food it must be supplied in some form that is easily assimilated if we want to possess power, energy and endurance. I have found nothing in my experience so effective for helping to make strong, healthy red-blooded men and women as Nuxated Iron."

Japanese Entertainers to Appear at Lyceum Course Number at High School Auditorium

The Ongawas, Japanese entertainers, will provide the next number of the University Lyceum course which will be presented at the high school auditorium on Monday evening, February 23.

It is doubted if ever a more worthwhile entertainment has been provided than this at once highly pleasing and authoritative than the "Evening in Nippon," presented by Mr. and Mrs. Michitaro Ongawa.

It embodies as one feature a Japanese playlet, "The Mirror," a comedy of ancient Japanese life, in character setting and costumes. The musical part will be of special interest to students of music, presenting as it does only genuine Japanese melodies. Some are played on the native instruments, some are arranged and adapted for the piano and others are sung with the Japanese words.

These people give, not a description of Japan, but scenes and incidents as actually lived; so that their unique work might be fitly described as an entertainment of Japanese drama and music.

Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago, states: "We very much enjoyed the entertainment given by Mr. and Mrs. Ongawa. The costumes, the songs, all tended to make it most vivid."

MENTAL WORK NEEDS A STOMACH

Great Mistake to Imagine You Can Work Better and Faster on the Starvation Plan. Eat What You Like But Follow With Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

Mental work uses up energy fast. And energy comes from food. To eat little or nothing in order to do more work is a fallacy that has created an army of dyspeptics. A better plan is to eat the regular portions of food such as make up the average meal and follow each meal with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

You will then get a double benefit—energy from food and sociability with meals, for as a rule, the light eater, or those who skip meals, get into a bad habit, a rut, of hermit-like isolation. Do not be afraid of gasiness, sour stomach, heartburn, heavy feeling or coated tongue after meals. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets arouse the stomach to secrete the juices necessary to relieve these troubles that so frequently distress the mental worker. They contain harmless ingredients which act with an alkaline effect, so you may eat the rich things of the banquet or the savory sausage for breakfast with utmost freedom.

Get a 50-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store, eat freely of what you like and you will do more and better work than on a skimpy diet. Try this plan.

Human Life Grows Longer.

The ancient traditions of patriarchal life extending to many centuries are founded on the very reverse of scientific evidence, and instead of life in the past being longer than it is now, it has been shown that since the famous psalmist gave human life its limits of three score years and ten, human life has grown longer with civilization. In fact, in civilized countries the average length of life has been on the increase for three centuries. The scientific teaching of right living is, on the whole, yielding good results.

LINES SUIT FACE

Late French Hats Are Modeled to Adorn the Wearer.

Feathers, Velvet and Ribbons Are Deftly Arranged to Afford Most Becoming Headgear.

The late French hats for winter are practically a collection of lines—lines elusive and obscure, lines impossible and strange, lines pure and girlish, but always the lines that suit the face they are built to accompany.

This may sound easy, but it isn't. It takes an artist to construct a hat of the proper lines which will look smart and trim. But the French, when it comes to hats, are the leaders of the world. A French milliner takes a small piece of velvet, and lo! before your very eyes she has produced a hat which is the joy of all beholders.

The prettiest French hats one can take into her hand and crush into a round ball. There seems to be no frame and no foundation, and yet they are perfect frames for the faces they adorn. Ostrich feathers of all sorts have a fascinating way of curling over the ears and necks of their wearers. The hats are black or of very dark colors and the feathers are bright.

Many variations of the Tam o' Shanter are shown by the French modistes. They are large or small, trimmed or untrimmed, for sport or for dress, but at any rate the Tam o' Shanter in one form or another seems to be an indispensable part of the hat equipment of 1929. They are made of velvet or of hatter's plush or of tiny ribbons shirred and sewed round and round, and they are in solid colors when they are smartest.

Feather and coque turbans are distinctly good and these come in many daring colors, worn usually with no trimming but with an exquisite lace veil. The veil is more an ornament for the hat than a protection for the face.

Picture hats, wide and spreading for wear with the old-fashioned French costumes and with those that follow the Spanish influence. These are made of hatter's plush or of velvet, beautifully sewed; and their rather high crowns are made soft enough to fit over the head. Sometimes there is a suggestion of trimming about them, but more often they have an inconspicuous band of ribbon.

There is a popular turban of machine made over a sparkling metal brocade band. It is simply a puff of the tulle with the color of the band showing through around the headsize, and then a puff of the tulle droops over the right ear.

WORK SYSTEMS TO BLAME

Manufacturers Feel That Increased Cost Is Due to the Week-Work Scheme.

There is now a feeling among women's garment manufacturers that the factor of increased cost, due to the establishment of the week-work in place of the piece-work system, may play a more important part in high prices than it was realized. This point has occurred to some of the leaders in the trade who have not been entirely satisfied that the cost of raw material and other items was alone at the basis of values. Accustomed to piece-work prices, which enabled them to know with the best accuracy just what production cost them, some of the manufacturers, it is explained, may have added unconsciously to their profits when dealing with the new system that does not show costs so easily and correctly.

"Granny" Chamberlain "A good cough remedy is one that can be depended upon to cure coughs. Not one that cures some particular cough, but coughs in general."

It must be a cough remedy that can be relied upon for all the different coughs that are so prevalent. While the causes of all coughs are primarily the same, yet the condition of the patient is what makes the difference in the nature of the cough itself. Coughs of healthy persons are easier to cure than the coughs of invalids. The powerful convulsive cough of a large man is harder to cure than the cough of a baby. If you get a remedy that will cure a large man's cough and yet not be too powerful for the baby, you have a good cough remedy.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is just this kind of remedy. It is good for any member of the family. It relieves coughs of all kinds. It is the product of much thought and study to produce an ideal cough remedy. It is composed of things which cure easily and soothingly without harming the most delicate tissues of the throat. It acts as easily and safely on the young as on the old, and is the ideal remedy for coughs, colds, croup, influenza, whooping cough and bronchitis.

Good for the Whole Family

"Granny" Chamberlain "A good cough remedy is one that can be depended upon to cure coughs. Not one that cures some particular cough, but coughs in general.

It must be a cough remedy that can be relied upon for all the different coughs that are so prevalent. While the causes of all coughs are primarily the same, yet the condition of the patient is what makes the difference in the nature of the cough itself. Coughs of healthy persons are easier to cure than the coughs of invalids. The powerful convulsive cough of a large man is harder to cure than the cough of a baby. If you get a remedy that will cure a large man's cough and yet not be too powerful for the baby, you have a good cough remedy.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is just this kind of remedy. It is good for any member of the family. It relieves coughs of all kinds. It is the product of much thought and study to produce an ideal cough remedy. It is composed of things which cure easily and soothingly without harming the most delicate tissues of the throat. It acts as easily and safely on the young as on the old, and is the ideal remedy for coughs, colds, croup, influenza, whooping cough and bronchitis."

WOMEN VOTE FOR PRESIDENT

A call has been issued for a republican county convention to be held on March 15th, to elect delegates to the republican state and district conventions, at which delegates will be elected to represent Minnesota republicans in the national convention to be held in Chicago in June, at which a republican candidate for the presidency will be nominated.

The call directs the holding of primaries in the various precincts of the county, to elect delegates to the county convention and to give the voter an opportunity to express his preference for the nominee for president, ballots for which will be given to each voter at the primaries.

The call directs special attention to the law passed at the last session of the legislature giving the women the right to vote for president. This carries with it the right to express their preference for the nominees, therefore all women who expect or desire to affiliate with the republican party have the right and are urged to attend the primaries and cast their vote for delegates to the county convention, and express their preference for President.

The right to vote having been conferred upon the women, it is their duty, as good citizens, to get out to the polls and the primaries and exercise that right. It is hoped that they will be more faithful to the duty in exercising the right of franchise than the men have been in the past.

GOAT-GLAND BABIES

One has often wondered at the slang term denoting young America as "kids", but now that there are such things as goat-gland babies the term is no misnomer.

Dr. John R. Brinkley, a surgeon, has startled the world by transplanting goat glands to men and women as a means of restoring a lost heritage.

In one home, childless for 18 years, Dr. Brinkley persuaded the father to submit to an operation involving the transplanting of glands from a goat. A perfectly healthy and laughing baby came along to bless a home that had been childless for many years.

MANY LEGENDS OF THE HAW

Scarlet Berry Regarded in Some Parts of the World as the Emblem of Hope.

Around Little Rock the haw is seen in the full glory of its plumage. Its words that are dull and brown its may be berries greet the eye with a warm red of glowing coats. Here is a single tree, its spreading branches studded all over with scarlet fruit. It makes a picture that seems to be waiting to be transferred to canvas. Further on are five or six trees standing together their boughs showing a wealth of color that a landscape artist might rejoice to reproduce with his art. Any one of scores of groups of these trees would, in a public park or large private grounds, be a never-ending object of admiration.

He who has not read of hawthorn hedges has not read the literature of England, remarks a writer in the Little Rock Gazette. In that country of beautiful landscapes the haw blooms in many spots that have been beautified by long years of care. And it has its legends, both pagan and Christian. It has been regarded as the emblem of hope and its branches are said to have been carried by the ancient Greeks in wedding processions and to have been used to deck the altar of Hymen. An old superstition in the British Isles accounts it unlucky to uproot a haw. There has been for centuries a story that this tree was the source of Christ's crown of thorns, and there is a tradition among French peasants that, in its innocence, it utters groans and cries on the anniversary of the day when he whose birth we celebrate on Christmas, suffered death upon the cross.

SEEK WEALTH UNDER OCEAN

Miners Think Little of Burrowing Beneath the Waves in Their Pursuit for Treasure.

Man is a burrowing animal. In the pursuit of wealth he will even burrow under the sea. The most valuable iron mines in Nova Scotia are under the ocean. There are outcroppings of the ore beds on shore, but the miners follow them far out as they dip down under the sea floor.

It might be asked, how do they prevent the sea floor from caving in upon them? No trouble at all about that. Enough of the iron-bearing material is left untouched to serve as pillars, upholding the roof.

Elsewhere on the coast of Nova Scotia coal is mined in the same way, under the sea. It is an excellent quality of bituminous coal. On the coast of Cornwall, in England, mining is done for tin under the ocean, the lodes being followed out from shore. The bottom is of solid granite and the workmen can actually hear the boulders rolling about over their heads as the storm waves drive them about.

In one case a vein extraordinarily rich in tin was found at extreme low water in a patch of rock. A bulkhead was built around the rock and a shaft sunk, large quantities of precious ore being taken out before a storm wiped out the work.

CONGRESS WAITS ON PEOPLE'S WISH

PROBABLY WILL NOT NOW ENACT ANY MILITARY LEGISLATION OF IMPORTANCE.

WADSWORTH BILL OPPOSED

Universal Military Training Feature of Army Reorganization Measure Seems to Seal Its Doom in the Lower House.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—It looks now as if the United States would continue to drift so far as preparedness for possible war is concerned. The immediate enactment of military legislation of importance is not probable. At the present time not much interest is being taken by the men who frame the laws in the construction program proposed by the navy department. An inquiry into the situation that exists in congress with respect to military and naval legislation shows that most of the congressmen have got an impression that there is a distinct reaction throughout the country against military or naval legislation and for this reason, and this reason alone, they are disinclined to support any great forward step of a military or naval nature.

The successive steps that have led to the present situation in the legislative body may be enumerated in this way: When this congress was convened in special session last year the secretary of war reminded it that a permanent peace military policy should be formulated and legislation in keeping with that policy enacted. In pursuance of that notice the senate and house committees on military affairs took up the question of permanent military legislation. Each committee heard a great many experts. Finally the senate committee reported out what is known as the Wadsworth bill providing for a most comprehensive reorganization of the military establishment and with limited universal training as one of the features of the bill. The house committee has never been able to agree on a bill, though its efforts in a general way have been directed along the lines that guided the senate committee.

House Against Military Training.
No sooner was the senate bill with its universal training provision out in the open than the members of the house, regardless of political affiliations, began to let it be known that they were opposed to universal training in any form. On the Republican side, the leader, Representative Mondell of Wyoming, came out flatfooted against the training feature of the senate bill and his position was supported by the members of the house committee on order of business. The effect of this was to discourage the house committee on military affairs from going ahead with the idea that it should report a bill providing for universal training. The Democrats of the house, with the notion that they could gain some political advantage by taking a stand as a unit against universal training, caucussed and almost unanimously voted to oppose this training. This action was taken after President Wilson had written the caucus a letter asking it not to take a stand against universal training.

The upshot of it all is that the leaders have decided not to try to get through universal training legislation at this session. They believe the main features of the Wadsworth bill will eventually be accepted by the country and by congress, but they realize, so they say, that nothing, perhaps, could be gained by putting that bill through the senate at this session and sending it to the house to be slaughtered.

War Department Will Suffer.

The uprising in congress against military legislation leaves the war department in a most unsatisfactory condition. It had counted on legislation by the end of the fiscal year providing for the peace military establishment. Now it will have to go along in a makeshift way until congress acts. Meantime nearly all the new branches of the service that were built up during the war, like aviation, motor corps, gas and flame, etc., are rapidly deteriorating for lack of funds. Between now and the end of the fiscal year, June 30, the regular army appropriation bill will be passed and it is the thought of the men in congress who are dealing with the situation to make provision in that bill for tiding the department over until a permanent policy shall have been decided on.

The sentiment in congress is not quite so unfriendly to strengthening the navy but there is an disposition to make provision for carrying out any such program as Secretary Daniels has proposed. His program calls for appropriations approximating $1,000,000,000. He desires permission to proceed immediately with work on 26 capital ships, including 16 dreadnaughts and 10 battle cruisers, the ultimate cost of which would be approximately $780,000,000. For the work to be done during the fiscal year beginning July 1, Mr. Daniels desires $200,000,000.

The whole subject of preparedness, it is believed here, will have to be taken up by the people. It is for them to decide what they want.

AMUSEMENTS

New Park Friday

No comedy in the last twenty years has brought to the native stage such a splendid variety of distinctly new and amusing characters as Oliver Morosco's latest fun and fashion success, "Lombardi, Ltd." in which Leo Carrillo and the typical Morosco cast will be seen at the New Park Friday.

While Frederic and Fanny Hatton, the authors, have contributed many big hits to the American stage such as "The Great Lover," "Upstairs and Down," and "Years of Discretion," "Lombardi, Ltd." has proved not only their best effort at brilliant comedy writing but their best work in the matter of character drawing—a fact that has had much to do with the unusual success of the piece.

In the role of Tito Lombardi, in which Mr. Carrillo appears, they have for the first time brought to the stage the character of a fashionable, foreign dressmaker now found in almost every block on Fifth Avenue. Little is known to the public of the "back stage" workings of these fashionable New York shops and little do the smart customers know of the joys and sorrows of the mannequins, the saleswomen, the seamstresses or the many others employed in the making of these expensive creations any more than they know or understand the real temperament of the genius who first creates them. In the figuring of such happenings and the transferring of such characters to the stage the Hattons have presented a composite picture of the Bondels, the Hicksons, the Tappes and other famous creators and their establishments and written a comedy of rare worth.

Used Beer to Mix Mortar.

In England, in the days when beer was cheaper than it is now, it sometimes served to mix mortar, which was supposed to enhance the durability of the buildings where it was used. Moreover, mortar could be made with beer during frosty weather, when water could not be used. William Andrews, the antiquarian, says in his "Famous Facts," that "a tradition still lingers in Derbyshire respecting the famous Boss of Hardwick to the effect that a fortune teller told her that her death would not happen so long as she continued building. She caused to be erected several noble structures, including Hardwick and Chatsworth. Her death occurred in 1507, during a very severe frost, when the workmen could not continue their labors, although they mixed their mortar with beer."

OUCH! BACKACHE! RUB LUMBAGO OR STIFFNESS AWAY

Rub pain from back with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacobs Oil."

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right on your aching back, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the pain right out and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica, backache or rheumatism so promptly. It never disappoints!

Miners Think Little of Burrowing Beneath the Waves in Their Pursuit for Treasure.

Man is a burrowing animal. In the pursuit of wealth he will even burrow under the sea. The most valuable iron mines in Nova Scotia are under the ocean. There are outcroppings of the ore beds on shore, but the miners follow them far out as they dip down under the sea floor.

It might be asked, how do they prevent the sea floor from caving in upon them? No trouble at all about that. Enough of the iron-bearing material is left untouched to serve as pillars, upholding the roof.

Elsewhere on the coast of Nova Scotia coal is mined in the same way, under the sea. It is an excellent quality of bituminous coal. On the coast of Cornwall, in England, mining is done far in under the ocean, the holes being followed out from shore. The bottom is of solid granite and the workmen can actually hear the bonkers pulling about over their heads as the storm waves drive them about.

In one case a vein extraordinarily rich in tin was found at extreme low water in a patch of rock. A bulkhead was built around the rock and a shaft sunk, large quantities of precious ore being taken out before a storm wiped out the work.

CONGRESS WAITS ON PEOPLE'S WISH

PROBABLY WILL NOT NOW ENACT ANY MILITARY LEGISLATION OF IMPORTANCE.

WADSWORTH BILL OPPOSED

Universal Military Training Feature of Army Reorganization Measure Seems to Seal Its Doom in the Lower House.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—It looks now as if the United States would continue to drift so far as preparedness for possible war is concerned. The immediate enactment of military legislation of importance is not probable. At the present time not much interest is being taken by the men who frame the laws in the construction program proposed by the navy department. An inquiry into the situation that exists in congress with respect to military and naval legislation shows that most of the congressmen have got an impression that there is a distinct reaction throughout the country against military or naval legislation and for this reason, and this reason alone, they are disinclined to support any great forward step of a military or naval nature.

The successive steps that have led to the present situation in the legislative body may be enumerated in this way: When this congress was convened in special session last year the secretary of war reminded it that a permanent peace military policy should be formulated and legislation in keeping with that policy enacted. In pursuance of that notice the senate and house committees on military affairs took up the question of permanent military legislation. Each committee heard a great many experts. Finally the senate committee reported out what is known as the Wadsworth bill providing for a most comprehensive reorganization of the military establishment and with limited universal training as one of the features of the bill. The house committee has never been able to agree on a bill, though its efforts in a general way have been directed along the lines that guided the senate committee.

House Against Military Training. No sooner was the senate bill with its universal training provision out in the open than the members of the house, regardless of political affiliation, began to let it be known that they were opposed to universal training in any form. On the Republican side the leader, Representative Mondell of Wyoming, came out flatfooted against the training feature of the senate bill and his position was supported by the members of the house committee on order of business. The effect of this was to discourage the house committee on military affairs from going ahead with the idea that it should report a bill providing for universal training. The Democrats of the house, with the notion that they could gain some political advantage by taking a stand as a unit against universal training, canvassed and almost unanimously voted to oppose this training. This action was taken after President Wilson had written the caucus a letter asking it not to take a stand against universal training.

The upshot of it all is that the leaders have decided not to try to get through universal training legislation at this session. They believe the main features of the Wadsworth bill will eventually be accepted by the country and by congress, but they realize, so they say, that nothing, perhaps, could be gained by putting that bill through the senate at this session and sending it to the house to be slaughtered.

War Department Will Suffer.

The uprising in congress against military legislation leaves the war department in a most unsatisfactory condition. It had counted on legislation by the end of the fiscal year providing for the peace military establishment. Now it will have to go along in a makeshift way until congress acts. Meantime nearly all the new branches of the service that were built up during the war, like aviation, motor corps, gas and flame, etc., are rapidly deteriorating for lack of funds. Between now and the end of the fiscal year, June 30, the regular army appropriation bill will be passed and it is the thought of the men in congress who are dealing with the situation to make provision in that bill for tiding the department over until a permanent policy shall have been decided on.

The sentiment in congress is not quite so unfriendly to strengthening the navy but there is an indisposition to make provision for carrying out any such program as Secretary Daniels has proposed. His program calls for appropriations approximating $1,000,000,000. He desires permission to proceed immediately with work on 26 capital ships including 16 dreadnaughts and 10 battle cruisers, the ultimate cost of which would be approximately $780,000,000. For the work to be done during the fiscal year beginning July 1, Mr. Daniels desires $200,000,000.

The whole subject of preparedness, it is believed here, will have to be taken up by the people. It is for them to decide what they want.

AMUSEMENTS

New Park Friday

No comedy in the last twenty years has brought to the native stage such a splendid variety of distinctly new and amusing characters as Oliver Morosco's latest fun and fashion success, "Lombardi, Ltd." in which Leo Carrillo and the typical Morosco cast will be seen at the New Park Friday.

While Frederic and Fanny Hatton, the authors, have contributed many big hits to the American stage such as "The Great Lover," "Upstairs and Down," and "Years of Discretion," "Lombardi, Ltd." has proved not only their best effort at brilliant comedy writing but their best work in the matter of character drawing—a fact that has had much to do with the unusual success of the piece.

In the role of Tito Lombardi, in which Mr. Carrillo appears, they have for the first time brought to the stage the character of a fashionable, foreign dressmaker now found in almost every block on Fifth Avenue. Little is known to the public of the "back stage" workings of these fashionable New York shops and little do the smart customers know of the joys and sorrows of the mannequin, the saleswoman, the seamstress, or the many others employed in the making of these expensive creations any more than they know or understand the real temperament of the genius who first creates them. In the picturing of such happenings and the transferring of such characters to the stage the Hattons have presented a composite picture of the Bondels, the Hicksons, the Tappes and other famous creators and their establishments and written a comedy of rare worth.

But Tito Lombardi is not the only unusual character in "Lombardi, Ltd." for the highly amusing character of Daisy Mahoney, the little "movie-wise" mannequin played by Grace Valentine.

Used Beer to Mix Mortar.

In England, in the days when beer was cheaper than it is now, it sometimes served to mix mortar, which was supposed to enhance the durability of the buildings where it was used. Moreover, mortar could be made with beer during frosty weather, when water could not be used. William Andrews, the antiquarian, says in his "Famous Fakes," that "a tradition still lingers in Derbyshire respecting the famous Boss of Hardwick to the effect that a fortune teller told her that her death would not happen so long as she continued building. She raised to be erected several noble structures, including Hardwick and Chatsworth. Her death occurred in 1597, during a very severe frost, when the workmen could not continue their labors, although they mixed their mortar with beer etc."

OUCH! BACKACHE! RUB LUMBAGO OR STIFFNESS AWAY

Rub pain from back with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacobs Oil."

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right on your aching back, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the pain right out and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica, backache or rheumatism so promptly. It never disappoints!

Roads Impassable for Automobiles, But Are Passable for Sleighs

The highways in general throughout the state continue as heretofore to be impassable for automobiles, though passable for sleighs. In the north they are badly drifted, which makes travel difficult, even on runners. The only exception to the condition in the north is the road from Hibbing to Grand Rapids, which is kept open to automobiles by continual plowing.

In the central-western and south-western counties there are also some localities where travel by wheel is possible, and, for instance, in the vicinity of Wheaton and Beardsley. Our correspondent at the latter place reports the roads as being "smooth and hard." Around Luverne the roads are passable, but rough after the recent thaw and subsequent freeze. In Martin County, in the extreme southern portion of the State, the highways are reported as good for automobiles. The above are practically the only exceptions to the general rule cited at the outset, that the roads throughout the state are impassable for wheels; and passable, but not good, for sleighs.

FOR NATION OF RIFLEMEN

Government Backs Plan to Encourage Rifle Shooting in the Nation. Instructions Given

The war department is taking up the movement to promote small-bore rifle shooting, and the formation of rifle clubs. Every community should have one or more clubs in order to stage matches, etc.

Instructions given state where targets may be obtained and the necessary rifles. Now is the time to get ready. Any one can, lot, fairly level, 200 yards long, and about 50 yards wide will do. The more accessible the location the better. The equipment of the range will cost practically nothing except the willing hands of a few members for a number of afternoons. Detailed plans for equipping ranges will be published in "Arms and the Man".

Get your rifles ready. Many of you already have fine small-bore rifles. The Savage Arms Co. has just placed on the market a very satisfactory bolt action, .22 caliber small-bore rifle. The new Winchester bolt action, .22 caliber small-bore rifle will be ready for delivery about the middle of March. Get in your orders for these and for the ammunition you need with your local dealer.

Capt. E. C. Crossman, a member of the National Rifle Association Small-Bore Committee, is hard at work on a small-bore handbook which will be issued by the National Rifle Association. This book will give every bit of dope—rifles, equipment, ranges, range construction, ballistics, how to shoot, how to organize and finance a club, competitions, rules, etc. The handbook will probably be out by the first of May.

TAKE WIFE ON MOTOR TOUR

Writer Calls That Real Test of Marriage, Especially if She Can Drive.

Before being taken on a motor tour wives who themselves drive should be anesthetized and all knowledge of motors removed, Sinclair Lewis writes in the Saturday Evening Post. For if they know anything about the game it is so hard to explain to them why when you are trying to pass a car on the hill and suddenly see another car bearing down you first step on the accelerator instead of the brake, then retard the spark, yank the gear lever into neutral, grindingly try to get it into reverse or low or anything that is handy, sound the horn, step on the gas again, finally get into second—and then kill the motor.

So dangerous a thing is a little knowledge that in such cases women have been known to doubt your having a perfect reason for all those clever maneuvers.

Motoring is the real test of marriage. After a week of it you either stop and get a divorce or else—free from telephone calls and neighbors and dressing for dinner, slipping past fields blue with flax and ringing with meadowlarks in the fresh morning—you discover again the girl you used to know.

If You Don't Want to Wait Next Spring, Order Now

LAST year's production of the Chandler Six was of record volume and this year's production will double it; but if you don't want to wait for your new Chandler next spring, we would suggest that you order it now.

This year's automobile shows have attracted crowds greater than ever before, partly perhaps because hundreds of thousands of Americans were unable to secure new cars last year. And these great crowds of motor enthusiasts have found no better value in the whole exhibit of six cylinder cars than that which Chandler offers.

Chandler leads so distinctly in the medium-priced fine car field because it does offer such splendid value; because of its really marvelous motor developed through seven years of production in the Chandler plant and seven years' service on the road in the hands of a host of owners; because of its sturdy, dependable mechanical construction throughout the entire chassis; and because of its attractive and comfortable body.

Compare them all, all the sixes, then pick out yours. It will be a Chandler if you ask Chandler owners.

GEORGE PINE COMMITS SUICIDE

(By Telephone to Dispatch)
Bay Lake, Minn., Feb. 18—George Pine, age 45, Chippewa born in Crow Wing county, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head with a shotgun. He leaves a wife and several children and his aged mother who lived near him.

The home of the Pines was a small house east of Hammett lake and about a mile northeast of the Esdon school house.

Pine was a perfect specimen of Indian manhood, standing straight as a pine and over six feet tall. It is not known what prompted him to commit the rash act.

Deputy Coroner Iver Benson viewed the remains and pronounced it suicide.

FOR NATION OF RIFLEMEN

Government Backs Plan to Encourage Rifle Shooting in the Nation. Instructions Given

The war department is taking up the movement to promote small-bore rifle shooting, and the formation of rifle clubs. Every community should have one or more clubs in order to stage matches, etc.

Instructions given in state where targets may be obtained and the necessary rifles. Now is the time to get ready. Any vacant lot, fairly level, 200 yards long and about 50 yards wide will do. The more accessible the location the better. The equipment of the range will cost practically nothing except the willing hands of a few members for a number of afternoons. Detailed plans for equipping ranges will be published in "Arms and the Man".

Get your rifles ready. Many of you already have fine small-bore rifles. The Savage Arms Co. has just placed on the market a very satisfactory bolt action, .22 caliber small-bore rifle. The new Winchester bolt action, .22 caliber small-bore rifle will be ready for delivery about the middle of March. Get in your orders for these and for the ammunition you need with your local dealer.

Capt. E. C. Crossman, a member of the National Rifle Association Small-Bore Committee, is hard at work on a small-bore handbook which will be issued by the National Rifle Association. This book will give every bit of dope—rifles, equipment, ranges, range construction, ballistics, how to shoot, how to organize and finance a club, competitions, rules, etc. The handbook will probably be out by the first of May.

TAKE WIFE ON MOTOR TOUR

Writer Calls That Real Test of Marriage, Especially if She Can Drive.

Before being taken on a motor tour wives who themselves drive should be anesthetized and all knowledge of motors removed. Sinclair Lewis writes in the Saturday Evening Post. For if they know anything about the game it is so hard to explain to them why when you are trying to pass a car on the hill and suddenly see another car bearing down you first step on the accelerator instead of the brake, then retard the spark, yank the gear lever into neutral, grindingly try to get it into reverse or low or anything that is handy, sound the horn, step on the gas again, finally get into second—and then kill the motor.

So dangerous a thing is a little knowledge that in such cases women have been known to doubt your having a perfect reason for all those clever maneuvers.

Motoring is the real test of marriage. After a week of it you either stop and get a divorce or else—free from telephone calls and neighbors and dressing for dinner, slipping past fields blue with flax and ringing with meadowlarks in the fresh morning—you discover again the girl you used to know.

PART OF RELIGIOUS RITES

Hula Dancers Were Trained by Ancient Hawaiians to Take Part in Ceremonies.

Hula dancing long had its established school for the training of dancers in Hawaii. Originally, however, it was not the suggestive dance it is today, having been a religious rite of the ancient Hawaiians. To them the hula occupied the place of our concert hall, lecture room, opera and theater, and was their chief means of social enjoyment. The Hawaiians perpetuated their past, and inspired pure sentiment and lofty purposes by this dancing. The dancers were black-

CHANDLER SIX Famous For Its Marvelous Motor

If You Don't Want to Wait Next Spring, Order Now

LAST year's production of the Chandler Six was of record volume and this year's production will double it; but if you don't want to wait for your new Chandler next spring, we would suggest that you order it now.

This year's automobile shows have attracted crowds greater than ever before, partly perhaps because hundreds of thousands of Americans were unable to secure new cars last year. And these great crowds of motor enthusiasts have found no better value in the whole exhibit of six cylinder cars than that which Chandler offers.

Chandler leads so distinctly in the medium-priced fine car field because it does offer such splendid value; because of its really marvelous motor developed through seven years of production in the Chandler plant and seven years' service on the road in the hands of a host of owners; because of its sturdy, dependable mechanical construction throughout the entire chassis; and because of its attractive and comfortable body.

Compare them all, all the sixes, then pick out yours. It will be a Chandler if you ask Chandler owners.

paid article, not because it was held in dispute, but because the art of the hula was an accomplishment of special education and arduous training. In both song and dance, mostly for religious purposes.

As a religious matter the hula dance was to guard against profanation by the observance of various religious rites. The entire ceremonies were the result of premeditation and organized effort, the dancers being selected with great care from the flower of the land, including the most beautiful and physically perfect. The actors represented gods and goddesses of old earth come back again.

Most Resistant of Woods.

The redwood is one of the most resistant of woods against fires. It is hard to ignite and slow to burn and fires are easily extinguished. The fire-resistant quality of redwood was well shown at the time of the great San Francisco fire in 1906, when the burned district was fringed with houses built with redwood, which resisted the flames until they could be controlled. Redwood is light, but relative to its weight it is one of the strongest woods known. It is not especially elastic and consequently is not extensively used for structural purposes where timbers are subject to heavy loads. The wood is sufficiently strong and stiff, however, for general house construction purposes, and, in addition, is light and durable. These properties, as well as its ability to keep its shape, make redwood especially valuable for use in the construction of poultry yard appliances, which must resist rot and keep tight in all kinds of weather.

Don't Neglect the Little Ones

Mrs. J. E. Platon, 576 E. 156th St., Cleveland, O., writes: "I can't speak too highly of Foley's Honey and Tar. When my little girl has a cold I give her Foley's Honey and Tar and that stops her coughing in a little while." Children like it. It contains no opiates. It is healing, soothing, prompt in action. H. P. Dunn.

"A 1" is a symbol originating in the Lloyd's Maritime Insurance association denoting a ship that has been found first-class in construction and equipment. The "A" is for good construction and the "1" for good equipment.

Payment.

It is always the part of prudence to face every claimant, and pay every just demand, on your time, your talents, or your heart. Persons and events may stand for a time between you and justice but it is only a postponement. You must pay at last your own debt. . . . Benefit is the end of nature. But for every benefit which you receive a tax is levied. He is great who confers the most benefits. . . . In the order of nature we cannot render benefits to those from whom we receive them, or only seldom. But the benefit we receive must be rendered again, line for line, deed for deed, cent for cent, to somebody. Beware of too much good staying in your hand. . . . Pay it away quickly in some form.—Emerson.

Might Try Again.

Miss Euphemia Johnson was attended by a confidential colored friend of her own sex when the railway company called her in to effect a cash settlement for the death of her husband killed on his honeymoon. Mrs. Johnson had clouded her features with a heavy veil up to the time the corporation attorney had mentioned the sum, but when he produced the bills she threw back her badge of mourning and gazed eagerly on the bundle that flashed green and yellow in thick streaks. The lawyer withdrew after the signing of the release, and the two were left alone. "Euphemia," said the companion, "I suppose you'll be getting married again, now that you're so rich?" Euphemia paused, with a thick thumb half-way to her mouth for moisture and reflection. "Ef Ah do," she observed, before resuming the counting the roll, "it'll be some puzson working on de same railway."

Lepers' Hard Lot.

In the middle ages lepers were shown less consideration in Europe and the East than animals because of the fear that disaster would attend their very touch. Thus it was that the miserable sufferers were wanderers, going from place to place with their hooded gowns and their tinkling bells in hand, to warn the "clean" that something "unclean" was approaching. Time and civilization made the sad lot of the leper more endurable; no longer is he scorned and driven from place to place by those who follow the command of self-preservation. Every country has provided colonies and institutions where the victims are free to move about as they please, without bells or hoods or other distinctive marks. Humane methods have replaced the barbarous practices of other countries, and now through the application of the perfected chaulmoogra preparation there is hope held out to many who could see only hopelessness as their lot in life.

Chinese Widows Suicide.

Chinese widows rarely remarry. A rule customs of society do not go further. But in some parts of Puhlie the self-destruction of widows in devotion to their husbands has assumed almost barbarous forms. For example, when a man passes away his wife will generally declare her intention to kill herself to demonstrate her faithfulness toward him. Then the others of the family will cause a big stage to be erected and invite the relatives.

How to Blue Cold Steel.

Steel may be blue without heating. Polish the metal well and make sure that it is absolutely clean. Then immerse it in the following solution: Sulphate of copper, 40 grams; nitric acid, 60 grams; 90 per cent alcohol, 150 cubic centimeters; water, 1,000 centimeters. Allow to dry thoroughly, then polish by rubbing briskly with a woollen cloth. Another way to blue steel is to heat it till cherry red and then quench in carbolic acid.

OIL LEASE BILL PASSED AT LAST

NATIONAL RESOURCES ON GOVERNMENT LAND WILL NOW BE DEVELOPED RAPIDLY.

COAL IS ITS CHIEF FEATURE

Conditions Under Which This Fuel and Oil May Be Prospected For and Taken From the Public Domain.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—After some years of parleying congress has finally agreed on the conditions under which the government will permit the mining of coal, oil, gas, phosphate and sodium on the public domain. The bill agreed to is commonly known as the oil leasing bill. It is the expectation of congress that under the legislation the natural resources to which it relates will be developed rapidly. The attempt to fix conditions under which the government would permit the taking of coal, oil, gas, etc., from lands owned by it was started away back in the Roosevelt administration. In every congress since that time the subject has been up. A pending piece of legislation relates to the development of waterpower on the public domain. It seems likely that this legislation will also be perfected at this session.

Perhaps most interest in the legislation that has just been completed centers in the conditions under which coal is to be taken from the public domain. All the arrangements for taking coal as well as the other deposits covered by the legislation will have to be made with the secretary of the interior. The first step toward the development of the government-owned coal land will be to subdivide this land into leasing tracts of 40 acres each or multiples thereof. In no case will anyone leasing tract contain more than 2,500 acres. Leases are to be awarded by competitive bidding. There are some provisos or exceptions written into the legislation. For instance, where prospecting or exploratory work is necessary to determine the existence or workability of coal deposits, the secretary of the interior may issue a prospecting permit for a term of two years for not exceeding 2,500 acres; and if within that period the permittee shows to the secretary that the land contains coal in commercial quantities, he is to be entitled to a lease.

Restrictions on Railroads.
No lease of coal land is to be approved or issued until after a notice of thirty days has been given in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the lands or deposits are situated. There is also a provision that no railroad shall be permitted to hold a lease to mine coal on the public domain except for its own use; and no railroad company can receive more than one permit or lease for each 200 miles of its railroad line within the state in which the coal land is situated.

The most of the delay in getting through this legislation was due to the inability to agree on the compensation which the government should exact. As finally agreed on the bill provides that when the government decides to lease a tract of coal land, it shall announce in advance of the offering of the leases the royalty that will be charged. This royalty is not to be less than 5 cents a ton, payable at the end of each third month succeeding that of the extraction of the coal from the mine and an annual rental payable at the date of the lease and annually thereafter on the lands or coal deposits covered by the lease at such rate as may be fixed by the secretary of the interior prior to offering the lease. This rental is not to be less than 25 cents an acre for the first year, not less than 50 cents an acre for the second, third, fourth and fifth years, and not less than $1 an acre for each year thereafter during the continuance of the lease.

Coal Leases Indeterminate.
Leases are to be for indeterminate periods on condition of diligent development and continued operation of the mine, except when operation shall be interrupted by strikes. At the end of each 20-year period the secretary of the interior may require a readjustment of terms and conditions.

As to the oil and gas, the legislation provides that the secretary of the interior may grant to any qualified applicant the exclusive right for a period not exceeding two years to prospect for oil and gas upon not to exceed 2,500 acres of government land. On establishing to the satisfaction of the interior department that he has located valuable deposits of oil or gas the permittee is to be entitled to a lease for one-fourth of the land embraced in his prospecting permit. The lease is to be for a term of 20 years upon a royalty of 5 per cent of the value of the production and the annual payment in advance of a rental of $1 an acre, the rental paid for any one year to be credited against the royalties as they agree for that year. The permittee is to be entitled to a preference right to a lease for the remainder of the land in his prospecting permit at a royalty of not less than 12 1/2 per cent of the value of the production. Phosphate and oil shale and sodium are to be taken from the public domain on the same general terms that apply to coal and oil and gas.

Why More Small Cars Come Equipped With Goodyear Tires

Last year, more small cars, using 30 x 3, 30 x 3 1/2, or 31 x 4-inch tires, were factory-equipped with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

This is plainly a result of the high relative value produced in these small-car tires by Goodyear's enormous resources and scrupulous care.

They represent the same intense endeavor to supply utmost satisfaction in tires that has laid the basis for the marked preference which exists everywhere for Goodyear Tires in the larger sizes.

This real Goodyear value in tires is available for your Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other small car, at our nearest Service Station. Go there for these tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

30x2 1/2 Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread. $17.65

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are thick, strong tubes that reinforce casings properly. Why risk a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x3 1/2 size in water-proof bag. $3.90

SENATE SEEKS LIGHT ON SHIPPING PROBLEM

How Can Vast Merchant Fleet Be Operated Without Loss to Treasury?

FUTURE OF FLAG ON SEA IN HANDS OF SENATORS

Washington, D. C.—The country has invested between three and four billion dollars in merchant ships, which it now has on its hands. Every taxpayer, whether farmer, worker or merchant, business man or manufacturer, at present is a stockholder in these ships. How can they be run at a profit in competition with other nations? In other words, how is our flag to be kept on the seas?

These are the questions with which the members of the Senate Committee on Commerce are wrestling in a notable series of hearings on the merchant marine which are now in progress at the Capitol. It is likely that these hearings may last several weeks more, and the legislation on which the committee is seeking light is expected for several months to come. The questions involved in the hearings constitute, in fact, the gravest single economic problem that has been imposed on the country as a result of the war.

Sensors on the Job.
The responsibility for preparing a solution of this problem through these hearings falls on 19 senators, including the following from Middle West States:

Illinois—Lawrence Y. Sherman.
Minnesota—Knute Nelson.
Missouri—James A. Reed.
Ohio—Warren G. Harding.
Wisconsin—Irvine L. Lenroot.

How Hearings Are Conducted.
These hearings are held in the large committee room of the Committee on Commerce, in the Senate wing of the Capitol, in which hearings on the merchant marine have been held in many past sessions of Congress. Pictures of the new merchant fleet look down from the walls. The Senators sit at a long table with Chairman Wesley L. Jones of the state of Washington at the head. Around it are grouped each day representatives of the country manufacturers, merchants, farmers, bankers, exporters, shipbuilders and ship operators.

Officials of the U. S. Shipping Board, which now controls a majority of the ships, are always near at hand. The daily sessions begin at 2 p. m. and last usually until toward 6 o'clock, or after the adjournment of the Senate for the day. The daily attendance of the committee is good, and the interest shown by the Senators is keen and sustained. They, as well as the witnesses, realize that on the result of the committee's deliberations hangs the fate of the new merchant marine, with its 100,000 officers and men and its 2,000 seagoing ships, each worth more than a million dollars on an average.

A majority of the men attending these sessions feel that there has never before been a series of congressional hearings at which so much money and such grave possibilities for economic good or evil have been at stake.

Problems to Be Solved.
In substance the problems to be solved in these hearings are as follows:

How can all these ships of the country's new merchant marine, built at high war costs, for the emergency of getting men and supplies to the European battle front, be operated in the fierce competition of peace times against ships under other flags which have been made available to their owners at a price which permits their operation at a profit?

Should a certain percentage of the cost of our merchant ships be charged off as war expense in the same way that the navy is charging off the cost of its war emergency fleet, and the army the cost of its camps and other surplus war material?

This point having been settled, how can the ships be most economically operated in accordance with American standards of upkeep and wages?

The latter question involves that of ownership. At present a majority of the new ships are owned by the government. Should they be turned over to private citizens, and, if so, at what price, as compared with their cost and the present cost of building ships in the open market?

Responsibility of Senate.
The House of Representatives already has taken action on measures involving the same questions, voting almost unanimously—240 to 8—in favor of the bill introduced by Chairman William S. Greene of the Committee on Merchant Marine, which directs the Shipping Board to sell the government-owned ships in its control to private buyers at the world market price "as soon as practicable."

This bill is now before the Senate Committee on Commerce, and these hearings relate to it, together with three Senate bills on the merchant marine, two of them introduced by Chairman Jones and one by Senator Ransdell of Louisiana. All of the bills have the same object—namely, the sale of the war-built ships to private owners. It may be stated incidentally that there is no bill before Congress providing for continued government ownership of these ships.

Out of the four bills under consideration it is expected that an effective bill will be constructed for the continuance of the merchant marine along lines that it is hoped will bring out the same character of nonpartisan vote that was manifest in the recent passage of the Greene bill in the House.

Cooperstown.

Probably the most complete monument to an American writer in existence is Cooperstown, a picturesque village in northwestern New York on Lake Otsego, near the source of the Susquehanna. It was named after James Fenimore Cooper's father; it was the writer's home and is his burial place; the scenes of his various stories are laid around it and the greater part of its population at present is made up of his relatives or connections by marriage. In fact the whole place is flavored with the essence of Cooperism. A well-worn path to the writer's grave in the village churchyard gives mute testimony to his popularity.

DRESS WARM AND KEEP FEET DRY

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts and Get Rid of Uric Acid.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and, above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

Payment.

It is always the part of prudence to face every claimant, and pay every just demand, on your time, your talents, or your heart. Persons and events may stand for a time between you and justice but it is only a postponement. You must pay at last your own debt. . . . Benefit is the end of nature. But for every benefit which you receive a tax is levied. He is great who confers the most benefits. . . . In the order of nature we cannot render benefits to those from whom we receive them, or only seldom. But the benefit we receive must be rendered again, line for line, deed for deed, cent for cent, to somebody. Beware of too much good staying in your hand. . . . Pay it away quickly in some form.—Emerson.

Might Try Again.

Mrs. Euphemia Johnson was attended by a confidential colored friend of her own sex when the railway company called her in to effect a cash settlement for the death of her husband, killed on his honeymoon. Mrs. Johnson had clouded her features with a heavy veil up to the time the corporation attorney had mentioned the sum, but when he produced the bills she threw back her badge of mourning and gazed eagerly on the bundle that flashed green and yellow in thick streaks. The lawyer withdrew after the signing of the release, and the two were left alone. "Euphemia," said the companion, "I suppose you'll be getting married again, now that you're so rich?" Euphemia paused, with a thick thumb half-way to her mouth for moisture and reflection. "Ef Ah do," she observed before resuming the counting the roll, "it'll be some posson working on de same railway."

Lepers' Hard Lot.

In the middle ages lepers were shown less consideration in Europe and the East than animals because of the fear that disaster would attend their very touch. Thus it was that the miserable sufferers were wanderers, going from place to place with their hooded gowns and their tinkling bells in hand, to warn the "clean" that something "unclean" was approaching. Time and civilization made the sad lot of the leper more endurable; no longer is he scorned and driven from place to place by those who follow the command of self-preservation. Every country has provided colonies and institutions where the victims are free to move about as they please, without bells or hoods or other distinctive marks. Humane methods have replaced the barbarous practices of other countries, and now through the application of the perfected chaulmoogra preparation there is hope held out to many who could see only hopelessness as their lot in life.

Chinese Widows Suicide.

Chinese widows rarely remarry. A rule customs of society do not permit. But in some parts of Peking the self-destruction of widows in devotion to their husbands has assumed almost barbarous forms. For example, when a man passes away his wife will generally declare her intention to kill herself to demonstrate her faithfulness toward him. Then the elders of the family will cause a high stage to be erected and invite the relatives.

OIL LEASE BILL PASSED AT LAST

NATIONAL RESOURCES ON GOVERNMENT LAND WILL NOW BE DEVELOPED RAPIDLY.

COAL IS ITS CHIEF FEATURE

Conditions Under Which This Fuel and Oil May Be Prospected For and Taken From the Public Domain.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—After some years of parleying congress has finally agreed on the conditions under which the government will permit the mining of coal, oil, gas, phosphate and sodium on the public domain. The bill agreed to is commonly known as the oil leasing bill. It is the expectation of congress that under the legislation the natural resources to which it relates will be developed rapidly. The attempt to fix conditions under which the government would permit the taking of coal, oil, gas, etc., from lands owned by it was started away back in the Roosevelt administration. In every congress since that time the subject has been up. A pending piece of legislation relates to the development of waterpower on the public domain. It seems likely that this legislation will also be perfected at this session.

Perhaps most interest in the legislation that has just been completed centers in the conditions under which coal is to be taken from the public domain. All the arrangements for taking coal as well as the other deposits covered by the legislation will have to be made with the secretary of the interior. The first step toward the development of the government-owned coal and will be to subdivide this land into leasing tracts of 40 acres each or multiples thereof. In no case will anyone leasing tract contain more than 2,500 acres. Leases are to be awarded by competitive bidding. There are some provisos or exceptions written into the legislation. For instance, where prospecting or exploratory work is necessary to determine the existence or workability of coal deposits, the secretary of the interior may issue a prospecting permit for a term of two years for not exceeding 2,500 acres; and if within that period the permittee shows to the secretary that the land contains coal in commercial quantities, he is to be entitled to a lease.

Restrictions on Railroads.

No lease of coal land is to be approved or issued until after a notice of thirty days has been given in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the lands or deposits are situated. There is also a provision that no railroad shall be permitted to hold a lease to mine coal on the public domain except for its own use; and no railroad company can receive more than one permit or lease for each 200 miles of its railroad line within the state in which the coal land is situated.

The most of the delay in getting through this legislation was due to the inability to agree on the compensation which the government should exact. As finally agreed on the bill provides that when the government decides to lease a tract of coal land, it shall announce in advance of the offering of the leases the royalty that will be charged. This royalty is not to be less than 5 cents a ton, payable at the end of each third month succeeding that of the extraction of the coal from the mine and an annual rental payable at the date of the lease and annually thereafter on the lands or coal deposits covered by the lease at such rate as may be fixed by the secretary of the interior prior to offering the lease. This rental is not to be less than 25 cents an acre for the first year, not less than 50 cents an acre for the second, third, fourth and fifth years, and not less than $1 an acre for each year thereafter during the continuance of the lease.

Coal Leases Indeterminate.

Leases are to be for indeterminate periods on condition of diligent development and continued operation of the mine, except when operation shall be interrupted by strikes. At the end of each 20-year period the secretary of the interior may require a readjustment of terms and conditions.

As to the oil and gas, the legislation provides that the secretary of the interior may grant to any qualified applicant the exclusive right for a period not exceeding two years to prospect for oil and gas upon not to exceed 2,500 acres of government land. On establishing to the satisfaction of the interior department that he has located valuable deposits of oil or gas the permittee is to be entitled to a lease for one-fourth of the land embraced in his prospecting permit. The lease is to be for a term of 20 years upon a royalty of 5 per cent of the value of the production and the annual payment in advance of a rental of $1 an acre, the rental paid for any one year to be credited against the royalties as they agree for that year. The permittee is to be entitled to a preference right to a lease for the remainder of the land in his prospecting permit at a royalty of not less than 12 1/2 per cent of the value of the production. Phosphate and oil shale and sodium are to be taken from the public domain on the same general terms that apply to coal and oil and gas.

Why More Small Cars Come Equipped With Goodyear Tires

Last year, more small cars, using 30 x 3, 30 x 3 1/2, or 31 x 4-inch tires, were factory-equipped with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

This is plainly a result of the high relative value produced in these small-car tires by Goodyear's enormous resources and scrupulous care.

They represent the same intense endeavor to supply utmost satisfaction in tires that has laid the basis for the marked preference which exists everywhere for Goodyear Tires in the larger sizes.

This real Goodyear value in tires is available for your Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other small car, at our nearest Service Station. Go there for these tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

SENATE SEEKS LIGHT ON SHIPPING PROBLEM

How Can Vast Merchant Fleet Be Operated Without Loss to Treasury?

FUTURE OF FLAG ON SEA IN HANDS OF SENATORS

Washington, D. C.—The country has invested between three and four billion dollars in merchant ships, which it now has on its hands. Every taxpayer, whether farmer, worker or merchant, business man or manufacturer, at present is a stockholder in these ships. How can they be run at a profit in competition with other nations? In other words, how is our flag to be kept on the seas?

These are the questions with which the members of the Senate Committee on Commerce are wrestling in a notable series of hearings on the merchant marine which are now in progress at the Capitol. It is likely that these hearings may last several weeks more, and the legislation on which the committee is seeking light is expected to engage the attention of Congress for several months to come. The questions involved in the hearings constitute, in fact, the gravest single economic problem that has been imposed on the country as a result of the war.

Senators on the Job.

The responsibility for preparing a solution of this problem through these hearings falls on 19 senators, including the following from Middle West States:

Illinois—Lawrence W. Sherman, Minnesota—Knute Nelson, Missouri—James A. Reed, Ohio—Warren G. Harding, Wisconsin—Irvine L. Lenroot.

How Hearings Are Conducted.

These hearings are held in the large committee room of the Committee on Commerce, in the Senate wing of the Capitol, in which hearings on the merchant marine have been held in many past sessions of Congress. Pictures of the new merchant fleet look down from the walls. The Senators sit at a long table with Chairman Wesley L. Jones of the senate of Washington at the head. Around it are grouped each day representatives of the country—manufacturers, merchants, farmers, bankers, exporters, shipbuilders and ship operators. Officials of the U. S. Shipping Board, which now controls a majority of the ships, are always near at hand.

The daily sessions begin at 2 p. m., and last usually until toward 6 o'clock, or after the adjournment of the Senate for the day. The daily attendance of the committee is good, and the interest shown by the Senators is keen and sustained. They, as well as the witnesses, realize that on the result of the committee's deliberations hangs the fate of the new merchant marine, with its 100,000 officers and men and its 2,000 seagoing ships, each worth more than a million dollars on an average.

A majority of the men attending these sessions feel that there has never before been a series of congressional hearings at which so much money and such grave possibilities for economic good or evil have been at stake.

Problems to Be Solved.

In substance the problems to be solved in these hearings are as follows:

How can all these ships of the country's new merchant marine, built at high war costs, for the emergency of getting men and supplies to the European battle front, be operated in the fierce competition of peace times against ships under other flags which have been made available to their owners at a price which permits their operation at a profit?
